

Leading Change: Motivate, Inspire & Connect

BERKELEY
EXECUTIVE
COACHING
INSTITUTE

“What I loved most was that this made me see how hard topics such as human relations is a beautiful thing to have to work on and experience.”

Join Berkeley Executive Coaching Institute in our brand-new three-part series of leadership development programs for individuals. These highly-interactive live online courses offer leaders the opportunity to explore different dimensions of your authentic leadership - from building trust to elevating your presence to inspiring at scale.

Leading with Trust
Thursdays, May 2, 9, 16
8:30 - 11:30 a.m. PDT

Building trust as a leader is vital for creating a positive, productive, and innovative work environment where employees feel seen, heard, and motivated to contribute their best.

- Discover the “listening spectrum” to put empathy into practice
- Explore a typology of insightful questions to trigger insights
- Unpack a powerful framework to maintain trust throughout challenging conversations

Leading with Presence
Thursdays, June 6, 13, 20
8:30 - 11:30 a.m. PDT

Dive deep into the art of commanding presence and captivating storytelling. Say goodbye to uninspired speeches and hello to the power of authentic communication that moves hearts and minds.

- Practice the keys to projecting confidence and authority
- Learn how to craft a compelling leadership story that reflects your values and vision
- Master spontaneity and embrace the thrill of impromptu speaking.

Leading with Inspiration
Wednesdays, August 14, 21, 28
8:30 - 11:30 a.m. PDT

Engage and motivate your team as you guide them with a sense of purpose towards a collective vision. Foster a more profound and enduring commitment among team members.

- Create an inspiring TED-type talk to inspire teams of all sizes
- Lead an inspiring online meeting with a team of co-workers
- Develop powerful visuals and media to amplify your message
